

Storytelling in September is here! If you would like to submit a published piece of your writing or something by you that is new or unpublished, please read the requirements below. We are accepting submissions from now until June 30. Five ten-minute pieces will be chosen. The author of each piece chosen will then be asked to sit and read it aloud in the Laguna Woods tape studio in July. As the name indicates, we hope to present the results on TV6 in September.

All submissions for Storytelling in September 2024 must be:

MS Word, Times New Roman or Courier, 14 point font.

Submissions must be ten minutes in length or less when read aloud by you.

There are no restrictions on content with the exception of overt political statements which will not be allowed. Also, you may make more than one submission.

All submissions for Storytelling in September must be mailed to me at:

mpontecorvotv6@gmail.com

and received no later than June 30, 2024

Please note that only five works will be chosen from those received. Selection will be based on the quality of the writing, the need for variety of material and adherence to the rules above. Each author will be asked to read their work aloud via teleprompter in front of a camera in the video tape studio. If you don't feel you can meet the above criteria, please don't make a submission.
